New York. November 17.—Prices in domestic wheat markets were down to new low levels early this week. The depression would seem to suggest that the leading cereal had lost all its friends. For the time being there seemed be little or nothing in sight to give encouragement to holders. For one encouragement to holders. For one encouragement to holders. For one enting, receipts at primary points, and especially in the Northwest, continued especially in the Northwest, continued especially for export, stocks accountilated rapid. Y. Selling was stimulated also by the discouraging tenor of cable advices, European markets being decidedly weaker, owing chiefly to a brighter outlook for son markets being decidedly weaker, owing chiefly to a brighter outlook for son markets being decidedly weaker, owing chiefly to a brighter outlook for son markets being decidedly weaker, owing chiefly to a brighter outlook for son microble settlement of political affairs in Southeastern Europe.

respecting the settlement. Evidently fear of a clash had been allayed. The depression in European markets was also partly attributed to the heavy world's shipments, and the resultant large increase in the quantity on passage. As a result, the world's available supply showed a huge addition. 10.523,000 bushels, against 7.075.000 to markets have been more active and broader, having settled down to bushels a year ago. Selling in Europe was also accelerated largely by reports of favorable weather and prospects in Argentina. The exportable surplus in that country for the coming crop year was estimated at 146.000,0000 bushels against $5,000,000 bushels, against $5,000,000 bushels argin in the country for the coming crop year was estimated at 146.000,0000 bushels for the calendar year. The domestic and milling demand has also been somewhat quieter, as the recent enormous outturn has evidently filled up a great many holes, as there have been heavy deliveries to country stations worth of a close they are dissatisfied with the worth year. Late Selling Pressure Prices declined to still lower levels late in the week, under free and general selling, including bear hammering.
Discouraging cables were partly responsible for the selling pressure. No doubt, the further and more emphatic their sows.

Selling was stimulated also by the discouragement because of the falling of in the export cause of the falling of in the export owing chiefly to a brighter outlook for an amicable settlement of political affairs in Southeastern Europe.

It was apparent that the great powers had been successful in their efforts to bring about concord of action respecting the settlement. Evidently fear of a clash had been allayed. The depression in European markets was remained to the opinion that prices are now down to such a low level that it is somewhat hazardous to remain on the short size. In other words, in their judgment, the time is near at hand when well-to-do farmorts to bring about concord of action respecting the settlement. Evidently fear of a clash had been allayed. At the decline there have been tain-dealings, including a moderate quan-tity to arrive for Europe. The growth and spread of bearish sentiment was encouraged partly by the unfortunate scarcity of farm animals to consume the large surplus that will soon be-come available. Danville Takes Regulations of Richmond Force as

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Danville, Va., November 17.—The local police force is soon to be gov-erned by a set of rules which have been compiled by the Council Committee on Ordinances and Police. At the present time there are no such rules and there never had been, although seven years ago an effort to compile some was made by the Police Com-missioners. The recommendation that the rules be adopted will be made at the next monthly meeting of the City Council. They have been made up from those rules governing the police of Richmond.

A petition was drawn up here during the past week by a citizen named R. M. Abbott in the interest of Foyd and Claude Allen, now under sentence of death in the Richmond Penitentiary. This petition asks that the death

This petition asks mat the death sentence be commuted to life imprisonment.

There are quite a number of people in Danville, who are of the opinion that these two clansmen were tried and convicted when public sentiment was biased and when they had already been condemned by public prejudice. been condemned by public prejudice. There are, however, a large number of people who claim that the court of law might as well be abolished as to commute the sentence.

The Police Department is making a determined effort to break up habitual drunkenness. Letterly the matter has become so serious that the Mayor or ganized what is now known as the "Bell Brigade," or placed the names of offenders on a list who must now report weekly to Children was now now report weekly to Children was now now necessary to children was now necessary to children was now necessary to children was not necessary to children was now necessary to children was necessary to children was not necessary to children was now necessary to children was neces of offenders on a list who must now report weekly to Chief of Police Beli to give an account of themselves. There are some fifteen already enrolled. Chas. Willmoth, one of the first to be placed upon the list, has totally disregarded the new order, and on Thursday last, when he was arrested again for drunk-enness, he was sentenced to six months on the county road. This sentence goes into force to-morrow.
